

How much information is enough?

Mapping sustainability transition initiatives

2 December 2014, 15.30 – 17.30, Milan (Italy)

Aula Magna, Politecnico di Milano, Piazza Leonardo da Vinci 32

Sustainable alternatives are out there, from community gardens through energy cooperatives to local currencies. The question is how do we find them and how can we use this knowledge to accelerate urban sustainability transitions. Come and share your experience with us!

This project has received funding from the European Union's Seventh Framework Programme for research, technological development and demonstration under grant agreement no 603654.

AGENDA

15.30 – 15.45 Welcome and introduction

Taking the pulse: mapping transition initiatives in the ARTS regions
Niki Frantzeskaki, Dutch Research Institute for Transitions (DRIFT),
Erasmus University Rotterdam, The Netherlands

15.45 – 16.45 Panel debate: Why map initiatives? Lessons from practice

Adrien Labaeye, TransforMap.co, Berlin, Germany
Davide Ciccarese, Nostrale, Milan, Italy
Marta Corumbolo, DESIS, Milan, Italy

Moderation: Ania Rok, ICLEI – Local Governments for Sustainability

16.45 – 17.15 Working groups

Participants, accompanied by the panelists and representatives of the ARTS consortium, will discuss what kind of information is needed to accelerate sustainability transition in their community and on the European level.

17.15 – 17.30 Closing and next steps

This event is free of charge but registration is required.

To register, please contact Ania Rok at ania.rok@iclei.org.

Stockholm Resilience Centre
Research for Governance of Social-Ecological Systems

This project has received funding from the European Union's Seventh Framework Programme for research, technological development and demonstration under grant agreement no 603654.